

Joe Docherty

Call: 2019

Overview

Joe is developing his practice with a primary focus on professional negligence and clinical negligence. He also accepts instructions in personal injury and commercial litigation cases.

Joe has particular experience in solicitors' negligence, and additionally has experience of claims against surveyors, architects and accountants. Joe has acted successfully in numerous strike out applications in a professional negligence context.

In the course of his clinical negligence practice, Joe regularly appears as sole counsel in both the County Court and the King's Bench Division. He has extensive experience of acting in, and achieving resolution of, high value claims.

In addition, Joe volunteers with the charity Action against Medical Accidents (AvMA), and acts as a mentor with Bridging the Bar.

Clinical negligence

Joe undertakes a wide range of clinical negligence work and accepts instructions from both claimants and defendants. His recent experience includes:

- Advising on the merits of a fatal claim concerning acute necrotising pancreatitis.
- Advising on the merits of a fatal claim involving a hypoxic brain injury.
- Advising on the merits of claims involving delayed treatment of appendicitis.
- Advising on the merits of claims involving delayed wrist surgery.
- Advising on the merits of a claim involving the treatment of an open fracture of the tibia and fibula.
- Advising on quantum in a claim involving negligent performance of decompression of the ulnar nerve.
